We Believe In

Playing

Fun and games help develop creativity and muscle skills like balancing, jumping, climbing, drawing and writing.

Sharing

Social activities show children how to make friends, become a member of a group, communicate with others, and understand rules and routines.

Learning

Language and thinking skills help children communicate their ideas, solve problems and begin to explore basic math, science and social studies.

Growing

Playing, sharing and learning help children mature and develop a sense of independence and self-worth.

Who We Are

EarlyLearn NYC is an innovative, high-quality early education program for families across the five boroughs. Our mission is to provide social and intellectual development from birth to age five, preparing your child for kindergarten today and a successful future tomorrow.

Why EarlyLearn NYC

Infants and toddlers will begin to reach social and emotional milestones, including:

- Independence, curiosity and interest in the world
- Developing communication and social skills
- Demonstrating interest in music, movement and art to express ideas and emotions

Preschool age children will build the skills they need to be ready for kindergarten, including:

- Recognizing the names and sounds of letters
- Understanding patterns, counting and sequences
- Developing positive relationships and social skills with children and adults

EarlyLearn NYC gives your kids the educational and life skills they need to reach their true potential.
