

The Office of Clinical Practice, Policy & Support invites you to join a special forum on

The Impact of Social Media on Vulnerable Youth

(If you don't know what these symbols are, you should definitely come!)

Moderated by CNN Editor-at-Large Family Reporter

Kelly Wallace with panelists:

Frederick Lane, Author of “Cybertraps for Youth” & “Cybertraps for Educators”

Dr. Matthew Oransky, Psychologist, Mt. Sinai Child & Adolescent Clinic

LaNeeka Ross, TFFC Director, Graham-Windham

Date: Friday, June 24, 2016

Time: 9 am – 12 pm

Place: 150 William Street, 19th floor Manhattan Room

Learn about the landscape of social media, how kids use various platforms, the impact of social media on mental health, and how child welfare professionals can use social media to reach vulnerable youth.

Please register with Dionne Ellis, Dionne.Ellis@acs.nyc.gov.

Limited seating available so register today!