Asserting that "nothing is more important than a child's education," Borough President Fernando Ferrer challenged parents to "stand up for your children", and "reclaim a stake in your child's school," by voting in the May 7th community school board elections.

The Borough President is also planning a series of public service announcements, a letter writing campaign and is encouraging independent candidate forums to increase parent awareness and participation in the process. Ferrer also urged everyone to attend the Chancellor's candidates' forums to be held in each district.

Ferrer's effort is being supported by Bronx Board of Education member Sandra Lerner and Council of Supervisors and Administrators President Donald Singer.

Ferrer noted that all the recent attention and publicity on the subject of community school boards is "finally beginning to produce some glimmer of hope for change. We must not lose this opportunity to elect dedicated and accountable board members. We owe it all to our children."
