CCRB to Hold Public Hearing on Proposed Rules

NEW YORK – Today, the Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) published its proposed rule changes in the City Record and on the City of New York website. The Civilian Complaint Review Board is revising multiple sections of its agency rules in order to implement new policies and procedures related to changes to Chapter 18-A §440 and § 441 of the New York City Charter and recent court decisions. The changes will, among other things, allow the agency to begin self-initiating complaints and investigating bias based policing and racial profiling, simplify the language related to dispositions, and make the investigative process more transparent.

During the CCRB’s July Board Meeting, there will be a public hearing on the proposed rules with opportunity for public comment. Members of the public will be able to stream the meeting online, or view and participate in the board meeting from the CCRB offices. To stream the meeting via Webex, be sure to register here.

###

The New York City Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) is the largest police oversight entity in the nation and is empowered to investigate, mediate, prosecute, and recommend disciplinary action for complaints alleging misconduct by NYPD officers. See NYC Charter § 440(c)(1). The agency's jurisdiction includes excessive and unnecessary force, abuse of authority, discourtesy, and use of offensive language. To further this mission, CCRB issues monthly, biannual, and special statistical and qualitative reports analyzing trends and recurring issues arising from the many thousands of civilian complaints it receives each year.
