

Office of the Inspector General for the NYPD Policy Intern and Fellowship Program for Students and Recent Graduates

Fall 2016

The Office of the Inspector General for the NYPD (OIG-NYPD) is an independent office charged with investigating, reviewing, studying, auditing, and making recommendations relating to the operations, policies, programs, and practices of the New York City Police Department, with the goal of enhancing the effectiveness of NYPD, increasing public safety, protecting civil liberties and civil rights, and increasing the public's confidence in the police force. OIG-NYPD is independent of NYPD and sits within the New York City Department of Investigation (DOI). For more information, visit www.nyc.gov/html/oignypd.

OIG-NYPD is seeking an energetic graduate student intern and/or post-graduate policy fellow to assist OIG-NYPD policy analysts in a wide range of projects relating to NYPD policies and practices. The position offers an opportunity to work on cutting-edge issues of public concern in a new, high-profile environment. Interns and fellows will examine topics relating to active reviews and investigations of NYPD policies and practices, research and draft policy documents, summarize pertinent research and documentation, support OIG-NYPD operations, review investigative material, participate in internal staff meetings and external meetings with key stakeholders, and help develop strategies and policies. The position is unpaid. Undergraduate students are not eligible.

The qualified candidate should be enthusiastic about working in government and on police accountability, law enforcement, civil rights, and criminal justice issues. Candidates should demonstrate good judgment, high ethical standards, strong analytical and writing skills, and a proactive attitude. All candidates are required to successfully complete a criminal background check.

To apply, please submit a resume, letter of interest, letter of recommendation, and a short (5-10 page) policy or academic writing sample via email to OIGNYPDintern@oignypd.nyc.gov with "Fall Policy Internship" in the subject. Candidates may also send their application documents via postal service to:
