Summary

The Waterfront Revitalization Program (WRP) geodatabase contains several files related to coastal management and development. They include the coastal zone boundary (CZB), environmental significant maritime and industrial areas (ESMIA), priority marine activity zones (PMAZ), recognized ecological complexes (REC), significant maritime and industrial areas (SMIA) and special natural waterfront areas (SNWA).

Description

The New York City Waterfront Revitalization Program (WRP) is the city's principal coastal zone management tool. It establishes the City's policies for development and use of the waterfront. Most City, State and Federal discretionary actions in the Coastal Zone must be reviewed for consistency with these policies.
