AGENCY DESCRIPTION

The New York City Department of Probation (DOP) contributes to safer communities by supervising people on probation and fostering opportunities for them to move out of the criminal justice system and into meaningful education, employment, health services, family engagement and community participation. We are located at 15 offices in every borough across the City and provide three core services – juvenile intake, pre-sentence investigations, and probation supervision. In summary, DOP ensures that people who enter our system are supervised according to their risk level and receive the support and services they need to abide by the law and be an asset to their communities

UNIT DESCRIPTION

Juvenile Operations serves young people who have been arrested and are between the ages of 7 and 15 at the time of the alleged offense. A young person's disposition may include Probation supervision, which offers him or her a chance to demonstrate an ability to function in the community, in part by making positive behavioral changes and developing better decision-making skills in order to avoid further delinquent activity.
