Dear Sir:

Like so many people across our great country, the students, staff and parents of Sarah Adams School were deeply affected by the savage attack on September 11, 2001. We felt the desire to do something for the brave and courageous public servants who paid the ultimate price. Each grade level of our school created a project to honor or support police, fire, emergency service personnel or children. The enclosed item is intended to honor the E.M.S. officers of New York. Our first graders collected 911 New York quarters and shaped them into a memorial ribbon. This simple project served as a continuous reminder of the sacrifices made by your brave officers, who literally walked into the buildings at the most perilous time. They did this in order to help others. I know that our students will always remember their example and bravery. Let us say "Thank you", from the bottom of our hearts.

Sincerely,

Rocco D'Amelio
Principal
