RESOURCES FOR PROGRAMS

Insurance Question and Answer Breakfast

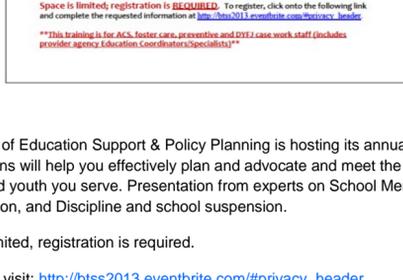

When and Where: Tuesday, August 20
Patsy's – 21-64 Utopia Parkway in Whitestone, NY
9:00 a.m. - Sign In
9:30 – 11:00 a.m. - Breakfast and Q & A

In response to the NYC Central Insurance Program (CIP) transition due to go into effect on November 1, Omni Insurance, an Essensa vendor, will host a breakfast forum to answer questions about insurance requirements and present their exclusive workers' compensation program. Omni has negotiated an exclusive agreement with a workers' compensation "safety group" that offers up to 25% upfront savings, with the potential for premium dividends for qualified agencies! Omni and "safety group" representatives will be there to explain how the program works and how they can assist in making the CIP transition seamless.

Come meet the Omni team and enjoy a complimentary breakfast at the world-famous Patsy's. We've chosen a location on the Queens - Bronx border with sufficient parking.

RSVP to Esti Heschel at: estih@theomniagency.com

Back to School Summit

ACS Office of Education Support & Policy Planning is hosting its annual Back to School Summit. Presentations will help you effectively plan and advocate and meet the education needs of the children and youth you serve. Presentation from experts on School Mental Health Services, Special Education, and Discipline and school suspension.

Space is limited, registration is required.

To register, visit: http://bss2013.eventbrite.com/#privacy_header

Bureau of Child Care Resource List

If you have any questions such as applying for permits, criminal history clearance, and many others, attached you will find a list of resources from the Bureau of Child Care. The attachment has a range of information, such as the location and phone numbers of your local borough office to other places where you can direct your specific questions.

NEW! FACILITY CORNER

Interior Doors

All doors that open to a corridor must have a "self-closer" and be kept closed; there are no exceptions to this. This is a New York City Fire Department regulation. The kitchen door is especially important since there is more likelihood of a fire breaking out there, though fire could break out anywhere.

Your corridors and stairwells are your safe passage when the building fills up with smoke in a fire. If a fire breaks out in a room where the door is open, your "safe passage" is seriously compromised--the hallway quickly fills up with smoke.

Secondarily, but important to your facility and your budget, if you prop open a self-closing door with a block of wood on the side where the hinges are, the hinges will inevitably give way and your door will no longer close properly. This will cause a repair or replacement cost from your budget and compromise the fire safety of the building.

Doors that are not on fire egress corridors or stairwells (e.g., in office suites or closet doors in classrooms) should not have self-closers.

Pantry doors must also remain closed to maintain the proper storage temperature.

The next time you or your staff thinks about propping open a corridor, stairwell, or kitchen door, ask yourself this question: "Am I Feeling Lucky?" The life you save by keeping it shut may be your children's, your staff's, and your own!

Please forward this to your site directors. If you have questions or concerns email earlyfacilities@acs.nyc.gov or call the EarlyLearn Facilities Help Desk at 212-453-0945.

ARTICLE OF THE WEEK

Parents Losing Jobs a Hidden Cost to Head Start Costs

Link: <http://www.bloomberg.com/news/2013-08-12/parents-losing-jobs-a-hidden-cost-to-u-s-head-start-budget-cuts.html>

Source: Bloomberg

Summary: This article tells a story of a single mother, Kelly Burford and how the recent Head Start cuts have affected her. With the help of Head Start, Kelly was able to get a $7.25/hour job at a local department store, while her son Bradyn was at school learning with his friends and teachers. But all of this was suddenly taken away as Bradyn's school had to close due to recent budget cuts. Follow this story to read more about Kelly's story and how the budget cuts are affecting families all over the country.
