As one of the largest child care agencies in New York State, Little Flower maintains a strong history of responding to societal needs to ensure the safety and well-being of those in need. Today, Little Flower serves nearly 2,000 people annually by providing foster care, preventative care, residential treatment and respite, family day care and adoption services as well as family care, Medicaid service coordination and residential services for the developmentally disabled.

Bridges to Health

bridges to healing is a program that offers fourteen different services from which a plan is created based on the child and family's needs. Services begin while your child is in foster care and can continue after your child leaves care. The goal of the program is to keep your child in the community and prevent placement in a more restrictive setting.

restrictive home or community setting.

- Provides supports for you, your child and others in your child's life.
- Participation is voluntary.
- Families choose providers and work with case managers to choose services.
- Supports permanency planning.
- If eligible, services continue after child leaves foster care until age 21.

your child enrolled:

- Is in the custody of the Commissioner of the Local Department of Social Services (LDSS), Administration for Children's Services (ACS), or Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS.)
- Has a diagnosis of Seriously Emotionally Disturbed, Developmentally Disabled, or Medically Fragile.
- Is at risk of requiring an institutional level of care.
