On the record, the Department withdrew charges 4 and 5.

Based on the evidence in this case, I RECOMMEND the following:

Findings of Fact

Each of the respondents is a process server licensed by the Department.

Each of the respondents maintains his logs in spirally-bound volumes provided by the company from whom they receive nearly all process to be served, R & A Process Serving, Inc. The format of the log pages is as provided by R & A. The format itself does not provide for inclusion of the following information: (1) the title of the action; (2) the full address where service is to be effected; and (3) the court in which the action has been commenced. The respondents otherwise did not include this information in their logs.

In at least nine instances, Mr. Roman did not record in his logbooks the year that service of process was effectuated. In at least two instances, Mr. Roman used the single letter "D," without additional explanation, to indicate the nature of the paper served and did not record the type of service effectuated. On October 2, 2007, at 3:20 p.m., Mr. Roman effectuated "conspicuous" service upon a storefront but did not record any description of the area adjacent to the door.

Mr. Matos wrote over or crossed-out the following three entries in his logbooks: November 3, 2006 at 10:18 a.m.; November 17, 2006 at 10:46 a.m.; and April 18, 2006 at 1:13 p.m. In at least three instances, Mr. Matos used the single letter "D," without additional explanation, or failed to indicate the nature of the papers served. After a traverse hearing on November 30, 2009, a traverse against one of Mr. Matos's services of a notice of petition and petition was sustained. (Ball Four Holdings, Inc. v. Bitter But Sweet Inc., 8175/09 (Civil Court, NY Co.))

Mr. Cates wrote over the following three log entries in his logbooks: October 10, 2007 at 10:45; August 16, 2007 at 1:00; and August 16, 2007 at 1:58. On at least 10 occasions, Mr. Cates did not record in his logbooks the year that service of process was effectuated. Mr. Cates used the acronym, "D-COMM," without additional explanation, in at least 5 entries to describe the "paper[s] served."

In log entries dated April 3, 2007 at 11:12 a.m., April 4, 2007 at 7:41 a.m., and April 4, 2007 at 9:16 a.m., Mr. Pagan obscured entries without drawing a straight line through the original entry. Mr. Pagan used the letter "P," without additional explanation, in at least 10 entries for the period between April 2, 2007 and April 13, 2007 to describe the "paper[s] served."

In log entries dated January 12, 2007 at 10:28 a.m. and March 15, 2007 at 10:45 a.m., Mr. Aboody obscured entries without drawing a straight line through the original entry.

Mr. Aboody did not fill out the entries in his log books; instead, Mr. Dankel filled them in for him based on entries Mr. Aboody made in a notebook. Mr. Aboody reviewed the entries made in the log book approximately one time per week. The log book's descriptions of the papers served by Mr. Aboody were complete and accurate.

Opinion

These facts are not in dispute.

6 RCNY Section 2-233 ("Records") provides, in pertinent part:

(a) Duty of individual licensee to keep records. Each process server shall keep records in compliance with the provisions of [section] 89-c [relettered as 89-u] of the General Business Law, as follows:

- (1) Each process server shall maintain a legible record of all service made by him as prescribed in this section.
- (2) The record to be maintained shall include the following information, where applicable:
 - (i) the title of the action;
 - (ii) the name of the person served, if known;
 - (iii) the date and approximate time service was effected;
 - (iv) the address where service was effected;
 - (v) the nature of the papers served
 - (vi) the court in which the action has been commenced;
 - (vii) the index number of the action, if known.

- (5) If the process server files an affidavit of service with the court, his record shall include the date of such filing.

6 RCNY Section 2-233(b) further provides, in pertinent part:

Licensees who serve process shall also include in their records the following:

- (1) If service is effected pursuant to CPLR 308(4) or RPAPL 735(1), a description of the area adjacent to the door to which process is affixed including the color and composition of hallway walls, color and composition of hallway floor or doorstep, and location of premises in relation to stairs, elevator or entranceway.
- (2) The person or firm from whom the process served was received.

- (3) Type of service effected whether personal, substituted or conspicuous.

- (5) Records shall be kept in a chronological in a bound, paginated volume.
- (6) Corrections in records shall be made only by drawing a straight line through the inaccurate entry and clearly printing the accurate information directly above the inaccurate entry. All other methods of correction, including but not limited to, erasing, opaquing, obliterating, or redacting, are prohibited.

The credible evidence establishes that, employing the format provided by R & A, the respondents did not include particular information required to be provided by Section 2-233(a) and (b), in the manners specifically set forth above in the Statement of Facts.

The credible evidence is that Mr. Aboody did not fail to describe the “paper[s] served” in his logbook: the descriptions are complete and accurate, and the Department presented no contrary argument.

As determined in DCA v. Eric Rivera, LL5130923 (Appeal Determination, March 4, 2010), the respondents’ “spirally bound log[s] [are] susceptible to manipulation and alteration,” “could be taken apart easily at any time and re-bound,” and thus “[do] not satisfy the requirements of 6 RCNY Section 2-233(b)(5).”

The faults of the respondents in not providing the required information lies, in part, with the format, including the spiral binding. R & A, which has the same legal responsibilities as that of the respondents, provided each of the respondents this format. However, this consideration does not excuse the respondent’s failures to abide by the requirements of these provisions. See 6 RCNY Section 2-234 (“The licensee shall at all times strictly ... conform to all laws, rules, regulations and requirements of the ... municipal authorities relating to the conduct of licensees....”).

The credible evidence establishes that respondents Israel Matos, Lamont Cates, Manuel Pagan and Alan Aboody failed to maintain a bound volume or log free of impermissible erasures, obliterating or redactions, in multiple violations of 6 RCNY Section 2-233(b)(6), as set forth above in the Statement of Facts.

The credible evidence establishes that each of the respondents did not include in their records a designation of the “person or firm from whom the process served was received” (e.g., the particular service agency, attorney or law firm), as required by 6 RCNY Section 2-233(b)(2). Nearly all of the process served by the respondents was received from R & A and not from the issuing attorneys and law firms otherwise recorded in the logs.

The Department charged respondents Paul Dankel, Nestor Roman and Manuel Pagan with violation of 6 RCNY Section § 2-233(a)(5) for failure to include in their log books the date of filings of affidavits of service "with the court." However, the Department made no showing that any of these respondents made any such filings. Accordingly, these charges should be dismissed.

The Department seeks, pursuant to 6 RCNY § 6-24(c), to amend the pleadings to "conform to the evidence by adding a charge that Mr. Aboody's non-contemporaneous entries are a violation of 6 RCNY § 2-233." By my own leave pursuant to 6 RCNY § 6-24(b), I grant the Department's motion to amend the notice of hearing in this respect so as to facilitate determination of this issue.

The requirements specifically set forth in Section 2-233 are designed to help to ensure the accuracy of information respecting services made. While not explicitly set forth in Section 2-233, implicit in the specific requirements of this provision is that the entries be made by the process server himself contemporaneously with the services made. Section 2-233 thus should be fairly read as to contain this requirement, as the Department argues.

Section 2-234 additionally requires the licensee to "strictly and promptly conform to all ... requirements of the federal, state and municipal authorities relating to the conduct of licensees and the service of process in the State of New York" (emphasis added). As the Court of Appeal in Barr v. Department of Consumer Affairs of the City of New York, 70 N.Y.2d 821, 823, 517 N.E.2d 1321, 523 N.Y.S.2d 435 (1987), stated:

[C]ivil litigants must depend on the accuracy of process servers' records to prove that proper service was or was not made (see Siegel, NY Prac. § 79). A process server whose records were illegible, inaccurate or otherwise plainly unreliable lacks credibility. The likely result is that many of the clients of such process servers will be unfairly penalized when they are called upon to prove proper service in traverse hearings.

The manner in which Mr. Aboody's entries were made in his logbook does not conform to the requirements for business records to be admissible as evidence in a court of law, that they be recorded at the time of the event or at a reasonable time thereafter. CPLR 4518(a). As the Court in Masaryk Towers Corp. v. [REDACTED] 12 Misc.3d 1172A (Civ. Ct., NY Co. 2006) stated: "Such a record would have to [be] noted immediately after each service; waiting until the end of the day to record such services would compromise accuracy and would provide an opportunity to alter the records to serve the process server's needs regarding the various times services were allegedly performed."

While an inference ordinarily will be taken that entries are not accurate from the fact they were not made contemporaneously with service attempts, see Citibank v. [REDACTED] 196 Misc.2d 292 (Civ. Ct. Richmond Co. 2003), such an inference is rebuttable. Mr. Aboody credibly testified that the procedure whereby Mr. Dankel made the entries in his log book was to ensure the entries' legibility (as required by Section 2-233(a)(1)), the entries were reviewed by him against his notes on a weekly basis, and, upon his review, the entries were corrected by him. The Department made no showing that an entry in Mr. Aboody's log, in actuality, was inaccurate in any respect. Finally, at the hearing, information as to his adopted procedure of making entries was presented not by the Department, but rather voluntarily and candidly by him in the context of this charge not yet pending against him. These circumstances and Aboody's evident intent to keep legible and accurate entries -- although misguided in the chosen manner -- should be considered in mitigation of penalty. I recommend that no additional fine be imposed for this violation of the rules.

As further determined in DCA v. Eric Rivera, LL5130923 (Appeal Determination, March 4, 2010), "each record of service in which [a] respondent failed to include information required by a subdivision of 6 RCNY § 2-233 constitute[s] a separate violation for which the respondent should be ordered to pay a separate fine."

The Department also requests that the respondent's licenses each be suspended for at least 30 days based on the predicates of the cited violations of its regulations. See Administrative Code Section 20-409(a) (providing that a process server license "may be suspended or revoked ... at any time for the failure of the licensee to comply with any rule [or] regulation ... promulgated by the commissioner" (emphasis added)).

The Department amply has demonstrated each respondent's failures to maintain required records of his service in the stringent manner required by statute and Departmental rules. The Department has not shown any fabrication of records or service by any of the respondents; has not shown any failures of any respondent in completing affidavits of service; and does not assert, and did not proffer any evidence, showing that any of the respondents removed or reordered any log book pages. Excepting as to its showing that a traverse was sustained against one of Mr. Matos's services, the Department has not shown an inadequacy of service.

With respect to Mr. Matos, a suspension of his license for 14 days is appropriate. I decline to suspend the other respondents' licenses.

Date: September 13, 2010

Each of the respondents appeals from the Decision dated June 4, 2010.

The appeals filed by Paul Dankel, Lamont Cates, and Manuel Pagan are denied. These respondents failed to submit payment of the fines imposed by the Decision.

Nestor Roman, Ismael Matos, and Alan Aboody have presented no support for their arguments on appeal that “there is no precedent” for the fines ordered by the Decision, and that the fines are arbitrary and capricious.¹ The respondents’ claim that the fines “pose a severe and unfair financial burden upon the respondent[s]” is not a valid basis for an appeal pursuant to 6 RCNY Section 6-40.

Accordingly, the Decision is affirmed.

¹This tribunal has recently upheld decisions ordering process servers to pay similar fines for violations of the Department’s rules governing licensed process servers. See, Department of Consumer Affairs v. Jimmy Roman, LL005133488 (Appeal Determination, July 20, 2010), and Department of Consumer Affairs v. Eric Rivera, LL005130923 (Appeal Determination, March 4, 2010).
