THE TEST:
Your multiple-choice test will be given at a computer terminal. Your score on this test will be used to determine your place on an eligible list. You must achieve a score of at least 70% to pass the test.

The multiple-choice test is designed to assess the extent to which candidates have certain abilities deemed important to the performance of the tasks of a Heating Plant Technician (Housing Authority). Task categories to be tested are as follows: operation of heating and domestic hot water boilers, industrial oil burners, and all related auxiliaries; inspection and maintenance of heating and domestic hot water boilers, industrial oil burners, and all related auxiliaries; record keeping and administrative functions; and work place safety and general housekeeping.

The test may include questions on standards of proper employee ethical conduct. The test may also include questions on the use of any of the following abilities:

- Written Expression: The ability to use English words or sentences in writing so that others will understand. As a Heating Plant Technician, one must be able to clearly document the work performed in logbooks so that others know what has been done.
- Problem Sensitivity: The ability to tell when something is wrong or likely to go wrong. It includes being able to identify the whole problem, as well as elements of the problem. A Heating Plant Technician must be able to diagnose issues with parts or devices that may not be immediately obvious.
- Number Facility: The degree to which adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing can be done quickly and correctly. This can be seen in other operations like finding percentages. Heating Plant Technicians may be expected to perform basic math when adding fuel and taking measurements of pipes and tanks.
- Deductive Reasoning: The ability to apply general rules to specific problems to come up with logical answers. A Heating Plant Technician may need to reason through certain problems and come up with solutions using general standards and guidelines.
- Information Ordering: The ability to follow correctly a rule or set of rules or actions in a certain order, such as numbers, letters, words, procedures, sentences, and mathematical or logical operations. A Heating Plant Technician may be required to follow a set of instructions when performing typical duties.
- Visualization: The ability to imagine how something would look when it is moved around or when its parts are moved or rearranged. Heating Plant Technicians may need to know the purpose of valves being turned to a specific position as well as each part of boiler, tanks, and other devices that Heating Plant Technicians commonly work with.

Certain questions may need to be answered on the basis of documents or other information supplied to the candidates on the date of the multiple-choice test.

You must clearly specify in detail all of your relevant education, training, and/or experience on your Education and Experience Exam and submit it by the end of the Application Period. You will not receive credit for training and experience which you obtain after the end of the Application Period. You have until midnight Eastern time on the last day of the Application Period (December 23, 2019) to clearly specify in detail all of your relevant education, registration, and experience and Final Submit your Education and Experience Exam in the Online Application System (OASys). Once you Final Submit your Education and Experience Exam in OASys, you will not be permitted to submit new or additional information on your Education and Experience Exam online.

If you do not Final Submit your Education and Experience Exam in OASys by midnight Eastern time on the last day of the Application Period (December 23, 2019), your examination will be considered incomplete, you must retake the test, and you will not receive a score. You will not be invited to subsequent portions of this examination, and your application fee will not be refunded.

During the Education and Experience Exam (EEE), you may answer questions about your experience. If your experience was on a part-time basis working less than 35 hours per week, you will need to convert your part-time experience to full-time experience using the formula below. Once you have determined your full-time experience equivalent, use this amount to answer questions about your experience.

\[
\text{number of hours worked per week}/35 \times \text{number of months worked}
\]

For example, if you worked at a job for 21 hours per week for 12 months, you would make the following calculation: 21/35 X 12 = 7.2 months.

You will not receive credit for education and training which you obtain after January 31, 2020 or experience which you obtain after the end of the Application Period (December 23, 2019).
