Opioids, like prescription painkillers and heroin, are risky drugs and can cause a person to stop breathing.

If you or someone you know takes opioids, ask about naloxone — it saves lives.

Visit nyc.gov/health and search for prevent overdose to get more information about opioid safety and naloxone.

If you need help, support or referral to treatment, call 888-NYC-WELL, text WELL to 65173 or visit nycwell.cityofnewyork.us.
