The text is in Tibetan and it seems to be discussing topics related to New York City, possibly including health-related information. Since the text is not fully transcribed or translated, I cannot provide a precise summary or answer your questions accurately. If you need assistance with a specific part of the text, please let me know!