Nyc Delta Variant is spreading faster. The current wave is more transmissible and thus more likely to lead to severe disease. When someone gets infected, so do others. The Delta variant is now primarily spread by vaccinated people. Yet, getting infected from someone who is vaccinated can still happen.

nyc.gov/vaccinefinder ‘s vaccine finder is the one to go to. If you are vaccinated, please wear a mask at all times. Stay six feet away from others. Keep your gatherings small. Get tested if you have symptoms. Self-quarantine if you’re sick. If you are infected, we recommend calling your doctor or the NYC Health Department. For more information, visit nyc.gov/covidvaccine.
