STATEMENT FROM DOI COMMISSIONER MARK G. PETERS

DOI Commissioner Mark G. Peters said, "DOI is the independent monitor for the New York City Administration for Children's Services ("ACS"); we are not sure what another independent monitor would add. DOI has already released two independent reviews of ACS this year and will release a third, showing failures at the highest level, early next year. As DOI has informed City Hall, ACS needs leadership that will actually implement the recommendations that DOI and others have called for time and again."

DOI is one of the oldest law-enforcement agencies in the country and New York City's corruption watchdog. Investigations may involve any agency, officer, elected official or employee of the City, as well as those who do business with or receive benefits from the City. DOI's strategy attacks corruption comprehensively through systemic investigations that lead to high-impact arrests, preventive internal controls and operational reforms that improve the way the City runs.
