MAKE A HOUSEHOLD DISASTER PLAN

Develop and practice a disaster plan with your household members to prepare for what to do, how to find each other, and how to communicate in an emergency.

- Decide where your household members will reunite after a disaster. Identify two places to meet: one near your home and another outside your immediate neighborhood.
- Practice using all possible exit routes from your home and neighborhood.
- Designate an out-of-area friend or relative who household members can call if separated during a disaster. If New York City phone lines are busy, long-distance calls may be easier to make. This out-of-area contact can help you communicate with others.
- Plan for everybody’s needs, especially seniors, non-English speakers, people with disabilities, access, and functional needs, children, and pets.
- Buy the right insurance. If you rent your home, renter’s insurance will insure the items inside your apartment. If you are a homeowner, make sure your home is properly insured — flood and wind damage are not covered in a basic homeowner’s policy.

ASSEMBLE AN EMERGENCY SUPPLY KIT

Keep enough supplies in your home to survive for up to seven days. Store these materials in an easily accessible container or cupboard, and update them twice a year at daylight saving times. Suggested items include:

- One gallon of drinking water per person per day
- Nonperishable, ready-to-eat canned foods and manual can opener
- First-aid kit
- Flashlight
- Battery-operated AM/FM radio, and extra batteries, or a wind-up radio that does not require batteries
- Glow sticks
- Whistle or bell
- Iodine tablets or one quart of unscented bleach (for disinfecting water ONLY if directed to do so by health officials) and eyedropper (for adding bleach to water)

Everyone in your home should work together to make an emergency plan, gather supplies, and understand the hazards they may face.
