

Unlocking Excellence: A Blueprint for Procurement Transformation

Procurement is a critical tool for government to achieve its mission. Agencies purchase, deliver and pay for goods and services to support communities. Bold new steps are necessary to make this work most effective. We must centralize values and priorities that raise the bar on how procurement is implemented and make investments in the procurement workforce. Our hardworking individuals are key to unlocking excellence and making New York City the fairest big city in America. This blueprint launches a new phase of activity to enable fair, responsible and timely procurement.
