Basic Information

Procurement Title:	Congregate and Scattered Site Justice Involved Supported Housing (JISH)
Agency:	Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH)
Agency Email Contact:	RFP@health.nyc.gov
Procurement Description:	The New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH) proposes to issue an open-ended RFP for both congregate and scattered site Justice Involved Supported Housing (JISH) units. JISH builds upon the accomplishments of the Frequent User System Engagement ("FUSE") model, which was piloted in New York City over a decade ago. FUSE identifies the highest utilizers of costly jail, shelter, and emergency medical services and assists them to stabilize and improve through the provision of supportive housing services. The JISH model incorporates intensive service delivery during the tenants' first year in housing. The aim of this model is to address the needs of individuals cycling through these systems in a compassionate and cost-effective manner. Under the proposed program, referrals for both congregate and scattered site will be identified through a match of NYC shelter and jail data to identify adults with the highest rates of shelter and jail use. JISH referrals will be made by DOHMH to contractors, who will then find and engage the person to introduce the program model and screen for a mental illness or substance use disorder. If the person screens positive and accepts the housing, they will immediately be placed into an available unit. The contractor ensures that the person, now a tenant, receives case management services at least weekly with a focus on maintaining stable housing and building a healthy fulfilled life.
