

- 1. How do I apply for public housing with NYCHA?
Apply online at (<http://apply.nycha.info>) from any device with Internet access; or you may file online from any of our Walk-in centers.
- 2. Do I need to submit documents with the NYCHA public housing application?
No, you do not need to submit documents with the NYCHA public housing application. The information you provide on your application will be verified if and when we are able to reach your application for an eligibility interview. If you are applying for NYCHA public housing as a Victim of Domestic Violence, you must apply online first then call or contact any of our Customer Contact Centers to obtain the VDV Document Review and VAWA: Victim Certification Form.
- 3. How will I know that my public housing application has been received by NYCHA?
Applicants will receive a letter from NYCHA within 30 days acknowledging the date your application was received and the housing priority that you have been assigned based on the information provided in your application. If you do not receive such a letter from NYCHA, please contact the Customer Contact Center at (718)-707-7771 from 8 AM – 5PM, Monday through Friday.
- 4. How can I check the status of my application?
Applicants can check the status of their application online. You must register with the Self-Service Portal to access your application status. Note: registrants must be the head of household listed in the application.
- 5. Can I update my application from the Self-Service Portal?
Yes, you can update your information related to your application by using the Self-Service Portal. Information such as address, phone numbers, email address, borough of preference, and reason for applying can be updated from the Self-Service Portal at <http://apply.nycha.info>
- 6. How often should I file or renew my application?
If you have not been invited for an eligibility interview, you must renew your application by using the Self-Service Portal every 24 months to remain on the waiting list. You will retain the filing date from your original application.
- 7. What is the difference between Public Housing and Section 8?
Public housing apartments are owned and operated by NYCHA. More than 400,000 New Yorkers reside in one of the 178,895 apartments located around the five boroughs of New York City. The public housing waiting list has over 160,000 applications. The Section 8 Program enables eligible persons to rent privately owned apartments. Housing assistance payments are made to the private landlords.

Please be aware that the Section 8 waiting list is presently closed to new applicants.
- 8. Can I be on the waiting list for both Public Housing and Section 8?
Yes, you can apply for both programs, but once you rent an apartment with the assistance of one program, your housing priority in the program that you did not yet receive will be significantly reduced. This reduction in priority would likely mean that you will not be reached on the waiting list.

9. Do I have to be a resident of New York City to be eligible to apply for public housing?

No, you do not have to be a resident of New York City to apply, but due to NYCHA's long waiting list, available apartments will be offered to applicants who live or work in New York City first.

10. Do I have to be citizen of the United States to be eligible to apply for public housing?

No, you do not have to be a citizen of the United States but at least one member of your household must be a United States citizen or a non-citizen with eligible immigration status (e.g. Permanent Resident, Refugee/Asylum statuses).

11. How old must I be to apply for public housing?

You must be at least 18 years or older, or an emancipated minor to be eligible to apply for public housing.

An emancipated minor is a child who has been granted the status of adulthood by a court order or other formal arrangement. In the United States, there are three main ways for a teenager to become emancipated and they are: Court petition; Marriage and Military Service.

12. Do I need to have children living in my household to be eligible to apply for public housing?

No, single adults are eligible to apply for public housing.

13. How old do I have to be to live in public housing for seniors?

You or your co-head of household must be at least 62 years or older and all other household members must be 62 years of age or older.

14. Can I list a specific development as my preference on my application?

No, you may not apply for a specific development. You may only list a 1st and 2nd choice of borough (Bronx, Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queens, Staten Island) on your application. If you are found eligible for public housing after your eligibility interview, you will be placed on a borough or development waiting list depending upon your priority and bedroom size required.

15. Do I have to have a source of income to be eligible to apply for public housing?

No, you are not required to have income to be eligible to apply.

16. Is there a maximum income that would make me ineligible to apply for public housing?

Yes, Housing Authorities like NYCHA use income limits developed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The income for admission varies for the county or metropolitan area, so you may be eligible in one area and not the other.

17. Does NYCHA include assets as income when determining eligibility for public housing?

The market value of the asset will not be included as income, but the income yield from the asset such as interests or dividends will be included.

18. What changes should I report to NYCHA after I apply for public housing?

Any change related to your contact information, family composition or income should be reported by using the Self-Service Portal. If you have any questions, you may contact the Customer Contact Center.

19. Once I apply, what is the application process?

The information you provided on your most recent public housing application will determine when we may be able to invite you for an Eligibility Interview. It is therefore important that you notify us of any changes as soon as it occurs. Your application is selected by computer for an eligibility interview based on your borough choice, apartment size, housing priority and date of application. However, due to the large number of families on the waiting list, and the low turnover and vacancy rate of apartments, it is impossible to estimate when a family might be selected for an eligibility interview.

20. How much will my rent be?

Your rent will be based on 30% of your household's anticipated gross annual income less deductions. HUD regulations allow deductions of $480 for each dependent; $400 for elderly family, or a person with a disability; and some medical deductions for households headed by an elderly person or person with disabilities.

21. Are utilities included in my rent?

Most but not all developments include gas and electric with rent. If you rent at a development that does not include utilities, you will be responsible for paying for utilities directly. However, you will receive a utility allowance that will be deducted from your monthly rent.

22. What happens after I receive notification of my placement to a certified waiting list?

After you have attended your eligibility interview and found to be preliminarily eligible for Public Housing, you will be notified by mail that you have been placed on either the borough or development waiting list. At the time a suitable apartment becomes available, NYCHA will perform a criminal background check for everyone in your household 16 years and older. If everyone passes the criminal background check, NYCHA will offer you an apartment. If anyone in your household fails the criminal background check, you will not be offered an apartment. Instead, NYCHA will send you a letter advising what you need to do next, and NYCHA will not consider your application anymore if you do not respond.

23. Does NYCHA have apartments for people with disabilities?

Yes, NYCHA has accessible apartments designed for people with mobility disabilities.
