ABOUT OATH:
The City of New York’s Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings (OATH) is the nation’s largest administrative tribunal, holding approximately 400,000 trials and hearings a year. As the City’s central, independent administrative law court, OATH adjudicates a wide range of matters filed by nearly every city agency, board and commission. OATH also houses the Center for Creative Conflict Resolution which provides mediation and restorative justice support to City government agencies and the general public, and the Administrative Judicial Institute, a resource center that provides training, continuing education, research and support services for administrative law judges and hearing officers.

JOB DESCRIPTION:
A Hearing Officer (per session), under the direction of a Managing Attorney, conducts and adjudicates hearings and writes decisions in cases involving alleged violations of local laws and the rules of the City of New York or other laws or rules within OATH’s Hearings Division Tribunal jurisdiction. The parties appearing at the hearing are typically private parties (individuals, businesses, etc., who may or may not be represented) and city agencies represented by agency counsel. As most hearings are typically short in duration and involve limited evidence, Hearing Officers may handle more than fifty cases per day. These areas of jurisdiction include, but are not limited to, violations involving cleanliness of the streets; disposal of waste; street vendors; restaurant, public health and environmental sanitation cases brought under the New York City Health Code; use of parks property; air, noise and water pollution cases; the Building and Fire Code violations; violations of consumer protection laws; violations of the laws and rules governing taxi, limousine, para-transit and commuter van services; and violations of the Criminal Justice Reform Act (CJRA).

A Hearing Officer’s work is scheduled based on the needs of the agency. When Hearing Officers are scheduled for work, the expectation is that the Hearing Officer will be available for that full day.

A Hearing Officer will not work from an OATH location and will conduct hearings remotely by telephone.
