JOB DESCRIPTION:

The OATH Trials Division seeks to hire a Chief Law Clerk to head its legal research unit. The unit consists of Law Clerks, Fellows, and interns who provide legal research and writing support to the OATH Administrative Law Judges in relation to all matters that come before the OATH Trials Division tribunal. The Chief Law Clerk serves as both the lead legal research resource for the Administrative Law Judges as well as the supervisor of a team of Law Clerks, Fellows, and interns.

As a manager, the Chief Law Clerk will oversee the work of the unit, including receiving legal research and writing assignments from the Administrative Law Judges, maintaining an organized docket of such requests, distributing the assignments to the Law Clerks, Fellows, and interns, in a fair and efficient manner, setting deadlines, and tracking progress to ensure the work is timely completed. The Chief Law Clerk reviews the assigned written work product to ensure it is clear, accurate, and comprehensive before forwarding it to the Administrative Law Judge. The Chief Law Clerk is also responsible for supervising, training, and coaching the unit members, ensuring the work product is consistent and high quality, providing unit members with feedback and performance evaluations, liaising with the Administrative Law Judge and other senior staff regarding the work of the legal research unit and its members, and other day-to-day management of the team.

The Chief Law Clerk is also responsible for managing information, including current and past researching assignments and memorandum, for reference by the team and the Administrative Law Judges. The Chief Law Clerk will also prepare written communication informing clerks and ALJs of changes in relevant laws, rules, or policies.

In addition to performing these supervisory and management duties, the Chief Law Clerk, as needed, will contribute to the unit’s substantive work by conducting legal research related to statutory and regulatory issues; writing summaries and analyses of parties’ legal arguments, presentations of facts, and exhibits; writing draft reports and recommendations and memorandum decisions for review by the Administrative Law Judges.

Further responsibilities include:
- Participating in group meetings and discussions with the Administrative Law Judges and Law Clerks, Fellows, and interns;
- Editing and directing the publication of OATH Trial’s monthly newsletter, BenchNOTES;
- Acting as a liaison between the parties, the OATH calendar unit, and Administrative Law Judges in Contract Dispute Resolution Board matters, including by scheduling conferences and oral arguments and drafting outlines to help the Administrative Law Judges prepare; and
