DATA
2019/20

SPECIFICATIONS FOR NOTICE OF FILING BY ELECTRONIC MEANS IN 2019/20

1. Application data files to provide electronic notice of filing must be formatted according to Tax Commission specifications for 2019. Prepare the application data file as specified in the layout table "Tax Commission Notice of Filing by Electronic Means". The layout table for the data files is the same as in 2018, except the instruction on Field 4 has changed for tax class one condominium units, as stated in paragraph 7 below and Field 6. RECLASS is now labeled RECLASS / EXEMPTION.
2. Submit your application data file to the Tax Commission no later than 5:00 PM on March 5, 2019. If delivery can be arranged before March 5, please do so. For tax class one or other applications timely filed after March 01, submit a separate application data file no later than March 15. E-mail your data file to tcdata@oata.nyc.gov.
3. Your e-mail transmission message must state the total number of records in your application data file. Count each range of condominium lots as a separate record, even though the ranges are within the same condominium. Check that your record count is the total you intend to file. We will confirm receipt of the data file and the total number of records.
4. The data file must not include a record unless a paper application was actually filed. The system that produces your data file should be designed to block a record unless a notation that the application was actually filed has been entered.
5. Include just applications that list your firm as the contact person. If your firm is preparing a data file of another firm's applications, create a separate file.
6. Do not use the specifications for application data files to update "Calendar" status in April 2018. Use the Update specifications printed on a separate sheet.
7. Field 4. FORM1. The specified codes indicate the application form number. Use code 8 (Form TC108) for all class one property, including tax class one condominium units. Enter code 9 (Form TC109) in your data file for tax class 2 and 4 condominiums. If you seek to have a property reclassified as tax class one, from another tax class, use Form TC106, code 6.
8. Field 5. RELATION. The specified codes match the categories in Part 2 of Form TC200. Enter code 1 for just owners; code 2 for net-lessee applicants. Instructions in 2019 on coding this field remain the same as in 2018; see instructions for Form TC200, Part 2. In 2019, executors, administrators, trustees, guardians, conservators or other fiduciaries signing the application must check the box in Form TC200, Part 2 of the principal's relation to the property and should enter the same code number in the RELATION field. If the principal owns the property, the fiduciary's relation is 1, the code for owners. Using the wrong code may require rescheduling the hearing on the property or deferring the hearing until 2020.
9. Field 6. RECLASS / EXEMPTION. Reclassification claims may only be made by filing the application on Form TC106. Form TC106 may also be used for exemption claims. Use code R for a reclassification claim, code E for an exemption claim, or code B for both. The field should not be blank if Form TC106 is used. If any form other than Form TC106 is used, the RECLASS field must be blank.

10. Field 7. CALENDAR. Errors in Field 7 interfere with calendaring and scheduling of your hearings. Please make sure the data is consistent with the current definitions.

Leave Field 7 blank in the following circumstances:

- the application is eligible for review, and review is sought in 2019;
- no TCIE is required to be eligible for review, such as for an entirely owner-occupied property;
- you anticipate that a TCIE (attached to Form TC150) for properties assessed at $750,000 or more will be filed on or before March 22, 2019 (although not yet filed when the data is prepared); or you are uncertain whether a required TCIE will be filed timely.

Enter code 1 in Field 7 if you know that a TCIE will not be filed in connection with an application for which a TCIE is required to be eligible for review at the Tax Commission.

Enter code 2 in Field 7 if the applicant does not request either a personal hearing or review as submitted in 2019.

11. The three condominium fields on the data file layout must be filled for all condominium applications: CONDOHI, CONDO# and COVERAGE. These definitions have remained stable for many years, but errors in the condominium coverage field persist. Use coverage code 2 only when a single application covers all lots in the condominium. See the condominium specification sheet for detailed examples and definitions.

When filing for a board of managers of a condominium, list the applicant's name in the following manner: "ABC Park Avenue Condominium Board of Managers", not "The Board of Managers of the ABC Park Avenue Condominium."

12. If you did not provide notice of filing by electronic means last year, e-mail tcdata@oata.nyc.gov for information and assistance. Be prepared to supply test data by February 08 by e-mail.
13. Do not include properties, such as utility parcels, assessed by identification number in your application data file, whether or not Form TC105 or TC106 is filed. Follow the instructions in Form TC600A on where to file utility property applications.
14. Paper applications filed by representatives who submit electronic application data are handled separately from those filed by other representatives. File applications according to the instructions in Form TC600A. Call Norvella Hopkins at (212) 602-6257 to make an appointment to file applications. File applications in categories 1, 3, and 4 in Room 1137 of the Manhattan Municipal Building. File applications in category 2 in Room 2400. Prepare Form TC10 as a receipt or a list with the same information. In either case mark the Form TC10 receipt or list of applications "E-mail Filer" for applications in your data file.
15. Mark your receipt Form TC10 "Not by E-mail" for applications, such as those for utility parcels, which are not and will not be in your data file. Also write "Not by E-mail" on each of the original applications. This precaution will help us avoid errors in our records on the status of your applications, scheduling delays and the risk of deferring hearings until 2020.
16. Do not send anyone to deliver applications to the Tax Commission without marking your applications and assuring yourself that the person understands the different types of filings: E-mail, Not by E-mail; originals, copies, Rooms 1137 or 2400, and the four categories of applications specified in Form TC600A and Tax Commission rules.

DEFINITIONS AND USAGE OF CONDOMINIUM COVERAGE AND HIGH LOT

COVERAGE FIELD 14	COVERAGE DEFINITION	CONDO HIGH LOT FIELD 11	# OF RECORDS IN DATA FILE
1	The application covers a single lot.	Same as lot	1
2	The application covers all lots within the condo*.	High lot of the condo*	1
3	The application covers a single range of lots within the condo. The lot numbers must be contiguous and have no numerical gaps, except gaps caused by the omission of lot numbers that do not exist within the condo as it appears on the tentative assessment roll.	High lot of the single range	1
 4	The application covers multiple ranges of lots within the condo. The lot numbers within each range must be contiguous and have no numerical gaps except gaps caused by the omission of lot numbers that do not exist within the condo as it appears on the tentative assessment roll.	Each record in the file must contain the high lot of the range it represents, as listed on the application form.	Multiple

* A condo is defined as a group of tax lots that have the same borough, block number and condo number. The condo number is a number the Department of Finance assigns to each condominium when the declaration is filed with the surveyor. It appears on the tax maps and the assessment roll tape (RPAD file). If a single condo number has been assigned to lots having multiple block numbers, a separate application is required for each block.

 For records with coverage = 4, enhanced data entry is required for each application. In these cases, one disk file record is created for each range of lots listed on the application form. The first record must have all required fields filled in (see specification for defaults). This first record will contain the high lot of the first range of lots listed on the application form in the CONDO HIGH LOT field (not the application or condo high lot).

A subsequent record will be created on the file for each additional inclusive range of lots covered by the application as listed on the application form. For these subsequent records/ranges the CONDO HIGH LOT fields will contain the high lot of each individual range (not the first range, application or condo high lot). Each of these subsequent records must include the following fields; BORO, BLOCK, LOT (the low lot of the listed range), CONDO HIGH LOT (the hi-lot of the listed range), RELATION, GROUP, CONDO#, COVERAGE (must be = 4), and APPLNAME. The FORM1, RECLASS, TCIE and REQUEST fields may be omitted on all records/ranges except the first.

The data entered into the RELATION and APPLNAME fields of these secondary records must be exactly the same as the first record. This field will be used to link records. Typographical or data entry errors may cause records to be processed incorrectly. It is best to use an auto-fill feature, a ditto key or a cut and paste method to insure exact repetition of the applicant's name. Multiple lots within a block and condo filed by the same applicant must be covered on a single application unless coverage = 1 or 3. Only one coverage = 4 application is allowed per applicant.
