1. Chairperson Joshi called the meeting to order at 10:20 a.m. with Commissioners Arout, Aguado, Gonzales, Jiha, and Marino present and reported the following:

   • Condoles to former TLC Chair Matthew Daus on the passing of his father.

   • As a testament to Vision Zero initiatives, on January 19, TLC joined Mayor de Blasio, DOT, NYPD, DCAS, and advocates to report that 2015 was the safest year since 1910 when statistics were first recorded.

   • City Hall recently released a study on the FHV industry. Addressing accessibility was a highlight of the study, and so in the coming weeks, TLC and the Mayor’s Office for People with Disabilities will be meeting advocates and stakeholders to gather information necessary to craft a proposal that meets the needs of passengers with disabilities.

   • TLC staff tasked with reducing long lines at the new licensing facility was successful. Thanks to project team: Dawn Miller, Rubin Varghese, Dan Godin, and Gregg Pearlstein. Thanks to licensing staff, including Gary Weiss, Allison Siegel, Stacy Lorenzo, Nicol Fakas, Chris Tormey, and Jeff Billups. Special thanks to Sherry Cohen, Jeff Grunfeld, Nick Venezia, Midori Valdivia, Brian Switzer, and their staffs.

   • TLC is continuing to streamline the licensing process. Online license renewal applications will become mandatory in April 2016, and TLC is looking into a system that would allow new driver applicants to complete their applications without ever visiting a TLC office.
- FHV holding lots at LaGuardia and JFK Airports are now being fully utilized, and the airports are now reporting better throughput and not as much clogging in the pickup areas.

- A baby was born in an Uber car on the Brooklyn Queens Expressway. The driver got the attention of an NYC Deputy Sheriff who safely escorted the mom and baby to a hospital.
