STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE OF RULES

In 1999, the Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) adopted a taxi school requirement to ensure that New York City’s taxi drivers have the training required to provide good customer service. Today, there are 11,000 taxi drivers in the pool of 53,000 active drivers who received their license before 1999. Under the current rule, these drivers must complete taxi school when they reapply for a license. The TLC has determined, however, that these drivers do not need to attend taxi school because they already have the experience needed to provide good taxi service to the public. The TLC is therefore proposing to amend its rules to exempt these taxi drivers from the taxi school requirement.

The Commission believes that waiving the taxi school requirement for this group of experienced drivers with good records, that is, who have no outstanding summonses, fines or suspensions, will not pose a threat to the public’s safety, while relieving the drivers from an unnecessary requirement. However, this exemption will not apply to the requirement that all applicants and renewal applicants for taxicab drivers licenses complete sex trafficking awareness training, which was introduced in December, 2012.

The Commission’s authority for this rule change is found in section 2303 of the New York City Charter and section 19-503 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York.
